

Releasing the potential of people to create competitive advantage

How do you ensure that those who work for your organisation want to work there?

Is there a way to inspire a 'can do' attitude which permeates your whole corporate culture?

Is it possible to discover the depth of motivation which will result in every individual in the organisation contributing their very best, maximising their performance in the achievement of corporate objectives?

At TMI we believe all these ambitions can be achieved. In fact we know because we've seen it happen time & time again, in companies from virtually every market sector, both large and small.

Who is TMI?

TMI are a global network of consultants committed to improving business performance through customer and employee focused change initiatives.

Founded in 1975, today TMI has local offices in more than 35 countries worldwide.

TMI Services

In Australia, TMI offers consultation and training in four Key Focus Areas:

Our Philosophy

Change takes place faster and with better results when the human factor is integrated. People who feel threatened will normally resist change. When people are informed, inspired, listened to and involved, they will embrace change and become the driving force of its implementation and integration.

Our Approach

It's not organisations that change, but individuals. TMI turn change through individuals into a reality through a proven strategy, we call the 5I's. These are:

- Investigation
- Identification
- Implementation
- Integration
- Inspiration

Want to know more?

For further information on how TMI can help develop your people and business, please call us on (03) 9602 3500, email us at mail@tmiaust.com.au or visit our website www.tmiaust.com.au